

Elections for Engineering, Dentistry, R.V.C. Today

Members To Fill S.E.C.

Voting for the election of Student Executive Council representatives will take place today when students in the faculties of Engineering and Dentistry and women undergraduates of Royal Victoria College go to the polls. These two faculties, together with Royal Victoria College, are the only ones not at the moment represented on the Council, a fourteen-member body. Candidates for election include Joan Mason and Dorothy Peterson for R.V.C., and Geoffrey Ince, George Schneider and Len Starkey for Engineering. Barbara Goodwin, only candidate for the Faculty of Music, was elected by acclamation.

Dentistry candidates are: Hugh F. Bonnell, Guy R. Corbisiero and Harry R. Shkurnik.

Arrangements have been made for Dawson students to vote for the Engineering candidates of their choice. Women students at Dawson will vote twice—one vote for their Royal Victoria College candidate, the other for their Engineering Faculty representative.

Voting for Engineering and Dentistry, male undergraduates, on the McGill campus will be in the En- (Continued on Page 4.)

Student Exchanges

Work Continued By I.S.S. For Students All Around the World

Western Gazette, October 10.—(CUP)—Among other plans worked out this summer at the Cambridge conference of The International Student's Service are included student exchanges with European countries and an International Hostel in Canada, reports Louis Leonowens, editor of the Western Gazette, and a Canadian delegate to the conference.

Mr. Leonowens said that private negotiations between Canadian, English and Dutch delegates at the conference may result in the exchange of Canadian students with England and Holland within the next year under I.S.S. sponsorship.

International Student Service, existing in Universities on nearly every continent, tries to provide education and relief to students and professors of all races and creeds. During the war, Canadian and American Universities were the financial backbone of I.S.S., and they will have to continue to aid European and Asiatic students, but the organization also means to expand

University of Toronto Residences Crowded

Toronto, October 10.—(CUP)—A survey of seven residences for both men and women students on the University of Toronto campus, revealed that all are filled to capacity.

Miss D. Falconbridge, chief dietitian at Burwash Hall, stated that the provision of meals in the dining halls has become a problem due to an increase of 425 students over last year, most of whom are non-residents.

Other influxes have occurred at St. Michael's College and at Trinity with additions of 100 and 25 boarders respectively.

However, with the cooperation of residents, there is very little wastage of food and the present rations will be maintained despite the impending cut.

Dr. Bruce Ross Appointed Asst. Registrar

Dr. W. Bruce Ross, assistant professor of mathematics was named assistant registrar of the University yesterday by Principal James, following the appointment by the Board of Governors at their meeting on Wednesday.

A graduate of McGill, Dr. Ross carried on the work of Dr. Halcher as assistant dean of Arts and Science, during the latter's absence this summer. He will continue teaching in the department of mathematics. He received his B.A. in 1930 and his Ph.D. in 1933.

The University also announced the receipt of grants totalling $30,000 from the Life Insurance Medical Research Fund of New Haven. The grants will be used for research in the recently-created experimental research laboratories, under the direction of Dr. Mercier Fautoux, noted cardiac surgeon, and Dr. David W. Mackenzie, Jr., who recently returned to McGill after overseas service with the R.C.A.M.C.

Several other gifts, grants and bequests were announced along with other staff changes.

Enrolment Heavy At Western Univ.

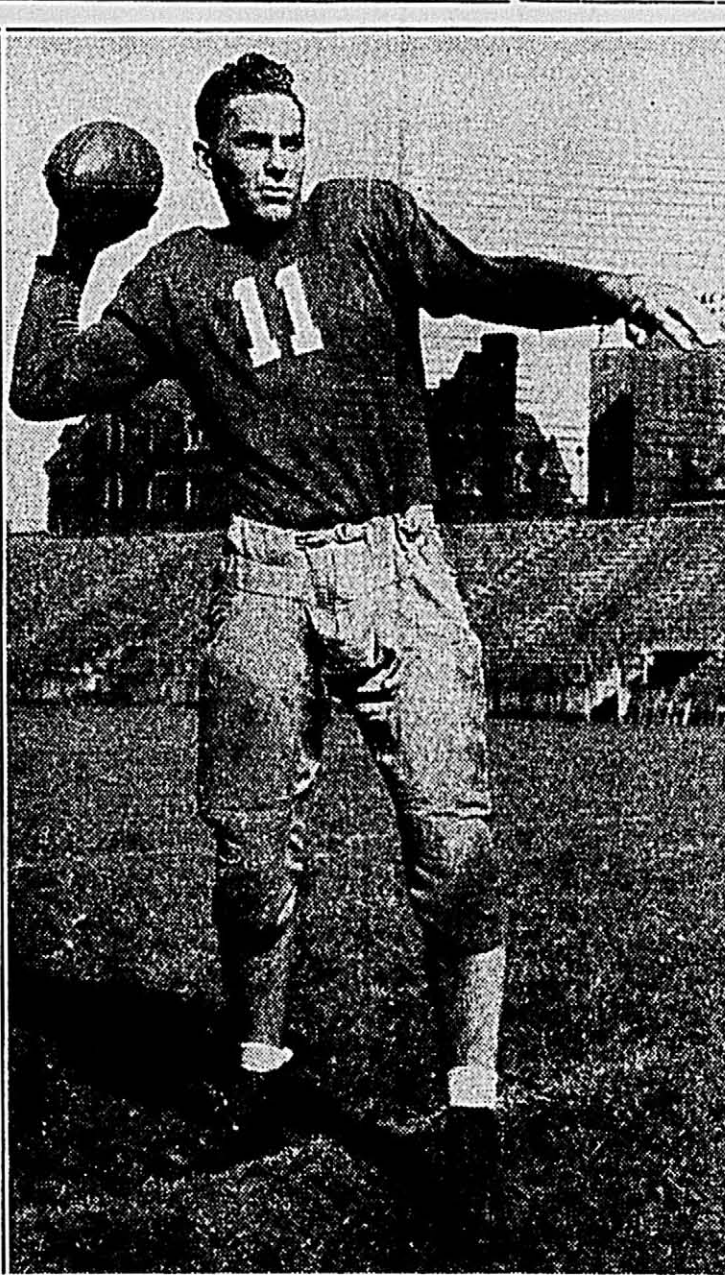

London, Ont., October 10.—(CUP)—The heaviest freshman enrolment in Western's history was completed this week. The Art's College will be taxed by a further 600 students in addition to the 1,035 who already filled the university to capacity last year.

The Faculty of Medicine has abolished the Pre-Meds course and now numbers 36 grads in its total of 268 students.

Transportation presents almost insurmountable difficulties. Several bus drivers have objected to their vision being obscured by students clinging to bonnets or bumpers in an attempt to beat the 8:30 bell.

McGill Team Confident As Redmen Face Varsity In Tomorrow's Contest

VARSITY

Impossible

by Betty Brewer

There'll be a record crowd on hand Saturday at Varsity Stadium according to word received today from The Varsity. Some six thousand University of Toronto students are expected to turn out for the game and another seven hundred odd are making the trip from McGill. In addition, the seats open to the general public are sold out, as many McGillites have learned within the past few days.

Those who have the chits handed out with train tickets yesterday, will be able to obtain rush-end seats at Mr. MacDonald's office in Hart House, Toronto, between the hours of 10.30 a.m. and noon. "However," emphasized John Dohan, chairman of the Red and White Society, "we strongly urge all students without chits not to make the trip hoping to obtain tickets in Toronto as they will probably be disappointed."

The long-sought for drum-major, etc will make her debut at the game with the Varsity band. In addition there will be the McGill band and two squads of cheerleaders to brighten the scene.

Saturday evening a dance will be held for McGill and Toronto students at the Royal York Hotel. Tickets for McGill students attending the dance are available at Hart House in the centre of the campus. The admission is $1.25 a couple.

Univ. of B.C. Will Present 4 One-act Plays

Vancouver, October 10.—(CUP)—January 17 and 18 will see the University of British Columbia play host to the second Western Inter-Varsity Drama Festival when four one-act plays will be presented by students from the universities of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and B.C.

The Players' Club, under the direction of President Beverly Wilson, has been making plans for the Festival during the summer months. This event was the "brain child" of Lois MacLean, President of the U. of A.'s Drama Society which grew into the present series of festivals. This affair will be on a non-competitive basis.

Eight travelling members from each university are allowed to come and must attend to all small properties, etc., connected with their play.

Never before has inter-varsity drama been an active force on this campus, but since last year's festival was judged successful they might become an integral part of student life.

The presentation of the plays will mark the first of the major student functions on the 1947 social calendar.

NOTICE

The Students' Administrative Council of the University of Toronto is holding a dance in the Royal York Hotel on Saturday night. All McGill students will be welcomed.
Price of admission, $1.25.
Tickets on sale at Mr. MacDonald's Office in Hart House on Saturday morning.
The members of the McGill Football Team and their partners are invited as guests of the Students' Administrative Council, of the University of Toronto.

All Players in Topflight Condition To Repeat Previous Victory

With their sights aimed at an Intercollegiate championship in 1946, the McGill "Redmen" face their first crucial out-of-town contest this Saturday when they face their long-time rivals from the University of Toronto. Leaving on this afternoon's train, the members of the McGill squad feel confident that they can repeat last year's outstanding performance in defeating the Varsity Blues tomorrow, and they certainly are going to put everything they have into this game.

Carol Brice, Contralto At Mount Allison U.

Sackville, October 10.—(CUP)—Carol Brice, negro contralto, presented a varied concert last Thursday at Fawcett Hall, Mount Allison University.

Miss Brice sang numbers by Marcello, Sarti, Durante, Schubert and other composers, in addition to four Negro spirituals.

The singer proved popular with the Mount Allison students, and the Argosy Weekly reports that she was recalled time after time for encores. Accompaniment was played by Miss Brice's brother Jonathan.

Miss Brice will sing here on Nov. 22, at the Royal Victoria College. This will be the first of a series of four concerts sponsored by the Student's Executive Council and the Women's Union. Tickets are on sale in the Union Tuck Shop.

Arts, Science Nominations Open Today

Nominations for the positions of President, Vice-President, Secretary and Treasurer, for every class of the Arts and Science Faculty open today. Forms must contain the names of at least ten members of the class nominating; and must be turned into Walter Reid in the Arts Building, or to the Daily Office at Dawson College not later than 2:30 p.m., Friday, October 18, 1946.

The elections are to take place on Friday, October 25, in the Arts Building at 4 p.m., and at Dawson College on the same date (place to be announced at a later date).
Presidents for Classes '50 and '49 must be male; therefore, the presidents will be males from Dawson, Vice-Presidents and Secretaries will be females from the McGill campus, and the Treasurer again a male from Dawson.

For the Classes '47 and '48, President can be either male or female; Vice-President and Secretary must be females; and the Treasurer must be a male. All of these are of course from McGill.

Bob Gill, President of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society, said today that all nominees for the Class Presidencies will appear before the Society probably at the Open Meeting on the 2d. Seven Teachers of Phys. Ed. at U.B.C.

Vancouver, October 10.—(CUP)—The University of British Columbia has recently announced that there has been a record enrolment in the degree courses in physical education from the former course will provide the urgently needed instructors for recreation and health centres and schools all over the province. The staff now totals seven fully qualified teachers.
Students taking the physical education course have decided to take an academic subject to enable them to teach in high schools following a year in teacher training. Those enrolled in the social work course have the opportunity to receive both Master and Bachelor degrees.

It will be a complete Red Team which faces Toronto tomorrow. For the first time the Redmen are going into a game this season with Dick Pare, Whizzer Smith, Tex Dawson and all the other ailing members in first-class shape.

KERR CONFIDENT
In spite of the prophecy of the Kingston Whig-Standard, which said that McGill had won her last game this season, Doug Kerr stated last night that he felt confident that his boys would pull through with another win this weekend.

This tilt with Toronto is of utmost importance to the Redmen, for they must win all of their games to take the championship without a play-off, and it is certain that the Blues will be out fighting with all they have to avenge their defeat of last week handed to them by Western's high-flying Mustangs. It promises to be a first class battle, for both teams boast exceptional passers in the persons of Mel Lawson for Toronto and Earl Smith for McGill. Both teams have exceptionally fast backfields and hard-charging lines, with Toronto having a slight edge in weight in this latter department.

In announcing the names of those to play this week-end, head coach Doug Kerr of the Redmen urged the team to go all out, for he and his assistants are counting on a victory tomorrow afternoon so that the squad can face Western with a clean record of nothing but victories this season.

PLAYERS
Kerr announced that the following members will be playing Saturday:
Hayes, Heron, Bartlett, F... Halves.
Smith—Quarterback.
Mann—Snap.
Huza and Pennefather—Inside.
Bridal and Little—Middles.
Symthe and Summerskill—Outsides.
Porter, Farlinger, Futterer, Newman, Robinson, Dawson, Finlay and Hall—alternates.

Raise of Fees To Aid War Fund in B.C.

Vancouver, October 10.—(CUP)—B.C. students seem to take the cake as far as versatility in campaigns is concerned. Fees to the Alma Mater Society of the University have been raised from $13 to $15 annually, five dollars of which will go to the War Memorial fund.

"Although there was some opposition on the grounds that the additional expense would be hard on self-supporting students, a general feeling of enthusiasm for the campaign pervaded the students and the motion was passed almost unanimously at the semi-annual meeting of the Society on Tuesday.

In an endeavour to attain the total of the 500,000 dollar objective, of which $150,000 has already been raised, an intensive campaign is planned beginning October 26, highlighted by a parade through the streets to the football stadium where the UBC team will play the University of Idaho.

The following three weeks is to be a rush of dances, auction sales and a canvassing of the business section of the town. Alumni in all parts of the province are busy oiling the campaign machinery for (Continued on Page 4.)

Don't Wait - Vote!

Students, and quite often their fellow-citizens off the campus, have a difficult time realizing the importance of elections. This may be so in the case of the former because of the great number of smaller clubs and societies at McGill and other camps, all of which require, at some time during the session, elections of officers. As a result, elections in general are held in an unimportant light.

This is not too grave a situation unless the elections happen to affect the student body as a whole, and indirectly, the University. Such is the case with the elections for the Students Executive Council, the sole student governing body on the campus. The Council performs a very important function, although too few students realize its worth, in running the affairs of some 9,000 students.

Three positions are open on the Council, and today students in the faculties of Dentistry and Engineering and the girls of R.V.C. have the opportunity to choose their representatives. By this time, each contestant should be familiar to their electors, and their various qualifications and platforms should have been studied carefully.

The next step is for the students in those faculties to make every effort to vote, and to get their friends to vote today. Only in this way will you be performing your duty and exercising your right as undergraduates and as worthy future citizens.

Next Stop - Toronto

Major athletic events seem to have a strong, stimulating effect on the student body. Almost everyone enjoys competition of some sort or other, and intercollegiate sports events act as a uniting influence on the heterogeneous groups which make up the campus whole, with the result that a festive air enters general campus life.

However, when the opposition for a McGill team is provided by an arch-rival such as the University of Toronto, that stimulus appears to be greatly increased. One need go no further than to note the enthusiastic response to the Red and White Society's plan for a special train coach to the City of No Evil for tomorrow's football game.

We have no fears about the way in which our football team will represent us on the grid-

HOT AIR
by Arthur Garmaise

HOLLYWOOD AND THE MIKE
Assert your independence . . . go ahead! Say that you are sick of the movies and the people in them, that you will have nothing to do with Hollywood or its mediocre productions . . . Try to listen to the radio to escape from the boudoir-voiced matinee idols and the aphrodisiacal addresses and this is what you get in your flight from Movie personalities:

This Thursday: Frank McHugh, Pat O'Brien, Marc Stevens and Dick Haymes.

Friday: Ginny Simms and Jimmy Durante with Ann Southern, to boot . . . (wouldn't that be something to write home about?)

Saturday: Tom Conway and Nigel Bruce, Paul Muni, Anne Baxter and Otto Kruger.

Sunday: Rex Harrison, Frank Sinatra, Jeanette MacDonald, Eddie Bracken, Kate Smith, Paul Whiteman, Ozzie Nelson and Fred Allen.

Monday: Humphrey Bogart, Lauren Bacall, Joan Bennett, George Brent, Adolphe Menjou and Joan Davis.

Tuesday: Bette Davis and Bob Hope, Fibber McGee, and Red Skelton.

Wednesday: Jack Carson, Duffy, Bing Crosby.

All these on separate programs, you understand . . . comedy, drama and musical efforts; tragedy, documentary, history and scientific ventures . . . and then . . . and then, I say . . . we have the commentators: Jimmie Fidler, Walter Winchell, Louella Parsons, and a newcomer, Frank Morris talking on moving pictures, Thursdays at 10 p.m. . . . from Winnipeg, no less . . . and thus we escape from Hollywood.

It goes without saying that the majority of the network regulars broadcast from Hollywood: Edgar Bergen, Eddie Cantor, Dinah Shore, etc., etc. . . . and add to this the fact that every other program on the air tries to copy the Hollywood broadcasts and ideals, standards and formats, and you have a pretty good idea of what I mean when I say that Hot Air is a Hollywood monopoly . . .

All I have done is state a fact, and one that is a clue to American radio. Hollywood dominates, through its personalities and ideas of entertainment. You may, with the intellectuals, deplore the fact (as has been done in this column till now) or you may, with the majority, cheer loudly (as I will now commence to do).

We must remember that American entertainment runs the same risk that I do in this column; it tries to please everybody in each effort, and in trying to appeal to everyone, pleases none. Murder mysteries, like tonight's "Plane Case of Murder" with Mark Stevens at 8:00 or "Sherlock Holmes" (Conway-Bruce), or the Crime Photographer, Mr. Keen, Inner Sanctum, F.B.I. or any of the other popular series, must dilute the blood in their stories with a moral message so as not to offend anyone . . . musical programs mix modern and classical music . . . and so on. Each program tries to be the equivalent of a full day of BBC broadcasting, where each program is planned to appeal to a certain type or class of listener, and at the end of the day manages to please everybody some of the time . . . and that is the difference. So let us, in a spirit of good-will and tolerance applaud the effort . . . and in 90 per cent. of the cases the result.

The humour is corn . . . and hilarious; the drama is mush . . . and gripping; the music is without a doubt . . . brilliant in orchestration and technique . . . and this is American Radio . . .

For the confused and the bedevilled, a note about this column and its aims. It is meant to show the bridge players and grill room inhabitants, i.e. the whole of the student body, that there are painless avenues to culture, great drama and fine entertainment . . . (2) It tries to emphasize the facts that radio can be an instructive and broadening factor in personal life as well as a medium for advertisement and soap operas.

If I have stressed entertainment till now, it has been for the sole purpose of getting you used to the idea that there is such a thing as a radio column in the daily . . . from now on, look for items of interest to specifically College crowds: Discussions, talks, good music—be it jazz or symphony—things worthy of the attention of students . . . the cream (sour or not) of society.

Look for the times in your local paper . . . I'm not listing them this week . . . and keep this column as an index for the good programs of the coming seven days . . . (Bette Davis and Rex Harrison stressed).

Strong for now, ye cultured . . . you've got the facts; the cards are on the table about radio . . . shuffle them as you like . . .

iron. Their showing to date both as athletes and as gentlemen has been of the highest standard and we are certain that regardless of the outcome of tomorrow's contest they will acquit themselves nobly.

We feel sure that the same can be said of the students who will accompany the team on the trip. Football weekends are times of relaxation and fun, and this will probably be no exception. However, let them not forget that they are McGill students and that, as such, they have a responsibility to rest of the students who will not be able to make the trip, but who will be at Varsity Stadium in spirit. With the band and the cheerleaders to set the pace, the McGill rooters should have no difficulty in supporting the team in the usual manner and in letting Varsity know that "McGill was there".

And, to the Red team — best of luck!

First Album
Canadian Music
by Bob Turner

Since 1944, the International Service of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has been supplying short-wave programs of news and entertainment from Canada to the rest of the world. During this time, many letters received from Europe and South America have asked about the kind of music heard in Canada, her composers and orchestras.

In order to provide an answer to these inquiries, Mr. Gerard Arthur stated, in an interview with The Daily, that as supervisor of production for the International Service, he arranged for the recording of the first album of Canadian music. It was recorded in the CBC studios in Montreal on March 29th, 1945, with Jean Beaudet, supervisor of music for the CBC, conducting a CBC orchestra.

The works presented in this album are by two of Canada's outstanding senior composers—Claude Champagne of Montreal, and Healey Willan of Toronto; the former by his "Suite Canadienne" utilizing four old French-Canadian folk songs for chorus and orchestra, and the latter by his "Concerto in C minor for Piano and Orchestra." Victor Brault with his "La Cantoria" choir and Agnes Butcher, pianist, who originally performed the works on the radio, are the artists heard in these recordings.

Separate editions, with notes in various languages, are being sent to our embassies abroad for free distribution to foreign legations and other prominent persons. In addition, they are sent to CBC representatives in London and Paris to be forwarded to the radio stations there.

Here in Canada, record dealers across the country were supplied with a number of these albums. A survey made of the principal cities, and reports submitted to the CBC by the dealers, show the sale of these albums to the public to be highly encouraging. So much so, that a second album has been recorded but not pressed as yet. It will feature "Notre Seigneur en Pauvre" and "A St. Malo-Beau Port Mer" by Sir Ernest MacMillan. "Interlude in an Artist's Life" by John Weinzwilg of Toronto, "Ballade—A Winter's Tale" by Jean Coulthard Adams of Vancouver, and "Pavane" by George Emile Tanguay of Quebec. Mr. Arthur also added that he had plans for a third and fourth album.

Since the production of these recordings is an extremely costly undertaking, Mr. Arthur expressed the hope that, on the basis of dealers' reports, Canadian commercial record companies could be induced to bear the responsibility of future recordings of music by Canadian composers.

"Two very important requisites for any composer is an incentive to write and an adequate distribution of his music," said Mr. Arthur. To this end, the CBC has taken another important step in the encouragement of Canadian composers and the world-wide circulation of their music.

Women Debaters Will Hold Tea
by Ann Ryan

The Women's Debating Union is an independent organization which presents its own program for women students as well as participating in many of the activities of the McGill Debating Union (for men). The highlights of the season are the intercollegiate debates between the McGill women and teams from Canadian and American universities and the interfaculty debates in which R.V.C. tries to teach the male of the species to "never argue with a woman—you always lose"—well, almost always.

This year, besides giving our most talented speakers the opportunity to uphold McGill's reputation in debates scheduled through the Inter University Debating League and with the Wellesley College team from the States and to win themselves a dinner date with the best men the Engineers can produce, the W.D.U. is planning a broad program of interest to all women students.

Although many students have not had enough experience in public speaking to wish to participate in formal debates of this sort, everyone realizes the importance of this ability and likes to voice her opinion on subjects of interest. Realizing this, the W.D.U. is planning to hold regular meetings with an informal program of short panel or round table discussions or exhibition debates followed by general discussion during which each member will have the opportunity to participate as much as she wishes and to get the experience which she may want. If enough students are interested, courses may be arranged in either Public Speaking or Parliamentary Procedure.

Later this month the Women's Debating Union will hold a tea at all interested women students at which they may learn more about its program and activities and decide if they wish to participate. So watch your Dailies and plan to come to the tea.

this stench brings back nostalgic memories of life back home, but since the majority of students and pedestrians passing by this unwholesome spot are equally unfamiliar with farm life, and find the accompanying odours equally distasteful, I suggest that something be done about it.

Rather than be regarded as a mere destructive critic, I am also proffering several suggestions which would remedy this sore-spot on the campus.

First I would suggest that the animals involved in the production of this odour be "street-broken" in

by E. S.

If all this world would live in peace
And every country's plotting cease
So that man could live his life to show
As flowers in the spring time grow
If all this world would understand
To live like neighbours; hand in hand
And no one commanding when and who
But live as loving people do

Then all be assured to go so well
Instead of making life a hell
With malice suffering and tears
Which are not forgotten for many years
So let us learn the right from wrong
And meet life's task with a jolly song
Yes, let us follow friendly trends
And learn to make our enemies friends.

LETTER FORUM

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir:-

This letter is written in the nature of a complaint, and it is hoped that it will reach the right sources through the medium of this column.

What I object to, Mr. Editor, is that barn-yard odour which pervades the entire area of the Rod-dick gates and which originates from the Eastern side of those gates where the horse-drawn sight-seeing vehicles are tethered for the use of tourists to our fair city.

Being an urbanite born and bred, I find it extremely distasteful to get a whiff of that aforementioned odour every time I make my way to lectures each day at this university. Perhaps the young farm-boy fresh from the country finds that

"Uncle Harry"
By Dusty Vineberg
If the MRT can maintain a level of acting and production as high as that achieved last night in the opening performance of "Uncle Harry", Montreal can anticipate an exciting and highly satisfactory winter season. "Uncle Harry" can only be described as highly successful. It was one of those performances which gives one a jolt at the end when the cast takes its bows, because the acting has been so convincing that one doesn't expect to find the actors on speaking terms—or if they've been killed off, to find them quite alive. "Uncle Harry" (don't be deceived by the innocuous title) concerns a man and his two sisters, each of whom struggle for possession of him, prevent his marriage, and ruin his life. "Uncle" Harry is a derogatory term, implying his meek submission. However, after being good for fourteen years, and showing signs of "being good for eternity," Uncle Harry takes very strong measures. We can't spoil the play for those of you who will certainly want to see it, and describe it only as a cold-blooded "thriller." The play was gripping from the first ominous scene. Robert Goodier, as Uncle Harry, did an excellent job in a difficult part, which called for quick change of mood, and a series of climactic scenes demanding a great deal of finesse. Edmund Wilson, who, with Uncle Harry, set the ominous tone of the play in the first scene, was perfect as Mr. Jenkins. Fans will remember his as Dogberry's aide-de-camp in "Much Ado About Nothing," the Shakespeare Society's first production, two years ago. He has lost nothing of his flavor since then. Dorothy Danford as Hester, and Eileen Clifford as Lettie, gave inspired performances as Harry's two sisters. The undercurrent of frustration, hate and jealousy with which the play was fraught, was their doing. We think Miss Clifford excelled herself and was meaner even, than (Continued on Page 4)

Red Gridders Play Double-header Saturday at 1.30

McGill Intermediate Teams Face Heavy Week-End Schedule

While the Senior Redmen are making their trip to Toronto this week-end, accompanied by some five hundred of their more ardent supporters, there is still plenty of action for McGill on the gridiron right here in Montreal. With a heavy schedule facing them through the next week, both of McGill's Intermediate teams carry on with a double-header this Saturday afternoon at Molson Stadium, and play again Monday afternoon at more distant spots.

Beginning at one-thirty Saturday afternoon, Jack Taylor's Intermediate Intercollegiate squad takes on the high-touted Macdonald College team in the first game of a very promising double-header at Molson Stadium. Immediately after this game, Johnny Bennett's QRFU outfit faces the Verdun Grads in what may turn out to be one of the most exciting games of the season.

Both the McGill squads are exceptionally ambitious this season, and rightfully so. The QRFU team already has one victory to its credit, a convincing 9-3 victory over the league-leading Eastwicks, and is already looking forward to another McGill championship team in the league this year. The defending champions are highly rated by the followers of the QRFU and have shown up well in practices and in their one game to date.

Taylor's Intercollegiate squad plays its first game this week-end, but it too has been looking well in (Continued on Page 4)

Boxing Starts Next Tuesday In Currie Gym

It was announced last night that boxing practices will start next Tuesday, October 15th, under the guidance of Coach Irving Phillips. Commencing at 5.15 and lasting for one hour, these practices are held in the BWF room of the Gymnasium, and will take place every Tuesday and Thursday at that hour.

It is hoped that there will be a large turn-out this year, as the core of last year's championship squad will be missing, due to graduations. Those who have never boxed before will be taught the fundamentals of the game and will be separated from the experienced boys in their weight class. These beginners will, as a matter of fact, constitute a class of their own and will remain in their group until they prove their superior ability and indicate their wish to step into the experienced class.

The experienced squad will be taught more advanced training and they will be geared for the Intercollegiate Tournament which is taking place in Toronto this year on February 21st and 22nd.

There has been no announcement as to the position of manager of the team. Dave Common, the candidate selected for last year's team to fill the post, has undergone an operation and will not be able to box this year.

Further information may be obtained by calling Milton Orr at WA. 2945.

Softball League Gets Under Way Tuesday

It was announced last night by L. Weingarten that the Softball League will start next Tuesday, October 15th at the Gym with two games being scheduled for that date. Games must start on time, he announced, and the managers must be there to secure equipment and score sheets.

No entries have as yet been entered by the School of Commerce. A call is being issued for post entries, and they can easily be arranged by phoning Hay Finlay at PL. 4488.

Last year's competition for the Gunn Cup, emblematic of softball supremacy at McGill, was very severe. It is expected that competition will be even closer this year with so large a body of students enrolled in the University. Since softball is a game played by nearly everybody, it is assumed that there will be large turnouts for each team.

DAWSON CALLING

By Scoop Pearl

This-a and dala . . . Although attention has been focused on the present football picture, other sports have not been forgotten, as is attested by last-minute sports releases . . . Dawson College is to have a team representing it in the Senior Montreal Basketball League this year, as well as in the intermediate section, according to word from the Athletics Department. Confirmation of the former entry has just arrived . . . Vern and Ken Taylor, crackjack basketball players for the Sir George Williams College Georgians last year, are attending lectures at the Dawson outpost and can be expected to line up with the local hoopsters . . . Last year's coach, Gerry Leonard, is at Purdue, according to local reports . . . Bert Light, popular Montreal boxer, is slated to instruct in boxing, Dawsonians will be happy to learn . . . Among the Dawson sports personalities is West Hill alumnus Herb Kert. The red head will be remembered as the catcher selected a propos the Brooklyn vs The World tryouts this summer, but who couldn't participate because of blood poisoning in a hand. Herb is trying out for the goaltending spot on Tag Miller's J.J.A.H.A. Royals . . . Keep your eyes glued on Bobby Duford, ex-Dawsonite, now taking part in the tennis tournament at McGill. He wields a mean racket . . . Chuck "Knobby" Laing, backfielder on the Q.R.F.U. entry who formerly sported the toga of Trinity College School, hails from Canada's Motor City and served a stretch in the Navy. Known by some teammates as "Windsor Sal" . . . "Red" Rubinstein, ex-Winnipeg Blue Bomber, is sporting a bum leg as the result of a recent practice. Dawson (Continued on Page 4.)

Twenty Hits!

St. Louis Cards Defeat Boston Red Sox 12-3 to Even Series

Equalling a record made in 1921 by the New York Giants in their series with the Yankees, the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday battered out twenty hits against six luckless Boston Red Sox pitchers to even up the current World Series at two games each, by winning their game 12-3. It was a field day for the Cards, as every man in their lineup got at least one hit, and for once, in a World Series tilt, it was the hitting, rather than the pitching, which highlighted the game.

In addition to allowing the record-tying twenty hits, the Boston pitchers between them walked four St. Louis batters, while their teammates let loose with four errors.

Supported by the excellent pitching of Munger, the Cards had little to worry about yesterday, they hit everything Boston pitchers could offer, tied up the series and made it certain that there would be at least one more game played in St. Louis.

Leading the St. Louis batters was Slaughter, who smashed out four safe hits, to tie another world series record, as did teammates Kuroski and Gargiolo.

It was a real day for records, in addition to hitting, the fact that Boston used six pitchers is a record in itself, three of them seeing action in the ninth inning. It was in the ninth that Terry Moore got his first hit of the series, and in that same inning Enos Slaughter came to bat two times as ten men faced the Boston pitcher. In that one inning four of the Cards twelve runs were scored.

Boston got their runs in the fourth and in the eighth innings. In the fourth Rudy York again came across with a well-needed hit, this time a double, which sent slugging Ted Williams across the home-plate. Again in the eighth, Bobby Doerr slammed out a homer, bringing home Dom DiMaggio. The Cardinals runs came so often and in such numbers that it is almost unnecessary to report them.

And so the series is tied up once more. Boston won the first game in St. Louis last Sunday. The Cardinals tied it up by winning the next game in their own ball park. The series then moved to Boston, where it was generally felt by followers of the sport that Boston would finish the National League Cardinals off in the next two games. Behind the peerless pitching of Dave "Doc" Ferriss they won that first game in Boston, but today was another story. There is one more game scheduled for Boston, and then both teams move back to St. Louis to finish the series off.

Our New Battle Song

Here is a new song which Red Supporters will be singing this week-end. Clip this out and take it with you to Toronto.

We're the Red and White
And we'll fight, fight, fight;
On to victory!

Now we're on the go
And we'll down the foe;
On to victory!

Hold that line, grab that man,
We shall win for Old McGill!

We're the Red and White
And we'll fight, fight, fight;
On to victory!

Dawson QRFU Team Is Said To Be Ready

Dawson Football fans are looking forward to a wide-open QRFU game against Rockland at St. John's tomorrow afternoon, the first of two which are to be played by the Dawson Intermediates this weekend. On Monday afternoon they face the Verdun Grads, in what should also be a hard-fought game.

While the team has shown that it needs more conditioning and practice, Coach Al Cagney has expressed confidence in his squad and in the potential which they have revealed in the early phases of the season, and this confidence is felt to be well-founded.

So far, Nigby has shown up very well at snap, while Keefe and Schofield are proving to be very strong ends. In the back-field Cagney has Hogan at centre-half, and in that boy he is reputed to have a very nice runner. Lang has been playing well in practices, while the booting chores are being handled by Oakes and Myers. The team, in general, is comparatively light, and as a result has developed a speedy, wide-open attack.

A double victory over the weekend would put Dawson on top of the league, and if trying is any criterion, those boys are certainly worthy of all they get, for the spirit in practices is that of a real fighting team.

Yesterday Cagney's team scrimmaged with Wally Markham's Freshman squad, winding up two weeks of intensive practice. The Frosh see their first action on Monday afternoon when they meet McGill at Molson Stadium.

Coed Tennis Tourney To Continue today

Before they can be a member of the Co-ed Intercollegiate Tennis Team, girls must be academically clear and must be proceeding towards a degree, it was announced last night. No more than one-third of the team may be taking Physical Education, the announcement continued, and therefore, as the team consists of but four players, only one member may be studying Physical Education.

Due to this regulation, it is expected that competition for the Co-ed Tennis team will be exceptionally fierce this year. The tournament which will decide the players who will represent RVC is continuing as scheduled and yesterday's results are as follows:

Elaine Fildes beat Kay King, 6-0, 6-0.
Mary Davidson beat Beverly Reid, 6-2, 6-2.
Kay Wake beat B. J. McLeod, 6-1, 6-3.
Elaine Fildes beat Louise Macfarlane, 6-4, 6-2.
Betty Evans beat D. Harrower, 6-4, 7-0, 0-7.

Ann Fleming beat Kay Wake, 6-0, 6-2.
Yvonne LeBrocq beat Norman Young, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3.
Matches for Tuesday, October 15: Elaine Fildes vs. Winner Trevis-Gooding.
Betty Evans vs. Winner Ferrabee-McLaren.
Ann Fleming vs. Yvonne LeBrocq.
Winner DeBlais-Sefton vs. Winner Clamant-Davidson.

Intercollegiate Golfers Named for Tourney

Frank Pope, diminutive niblick swinger from the School of Commerce repeated his performance of last year and topped the Interfaculties Golf Championship for the second successive year with a 36 score of 79-77-156. Jack Haldimand was runner-up with a card of 82-75-157. Rounding out the Big Four who were chosen to represent McGill this weekend at Catoragui Golf Club in Kingston were Chris Doscher and Dave Morrison who carded 158 and 159 respectively.

The above-mentioned foursome have shown up remarkably well in competition and will prove to be formidable opposition to the defending champions from Toronto.

McGill, Dawson In Soccer Tilt

To lead off McGill's soccer activities this season, a game has been arranged between Dawson College and a team representing McGill. This game will be played on Saturday on the Upper Field, starting at 2.30 p.m. While this match is only of a "tune-up" nature, and not one scheduled under the newly-organised representative league it will give each team an opportunity to investigate the strength of its opponent, before actual league play starts. The friendly rivalry which exists between the McGill and Dawson teams will make the game much more interesting.

McGill plans to dress a few extra players and substitute more in order to see how some of the less experienced players are shaping up. The following will represent McGill: Samuels, S. Smith, Eaves, Kilbertus, Dale, R. Smith, Ferrier, Walcott, Ellington, Stauble, Davicho, Bullshard, Tunis, Kelley and Barnard. These players must be at the Gym at 2.00 p.m. and if any are unable to turn out, they are requested to get in touch with Ronnie Barnard at PL. 2073 immediately.

Soccer practices are being held on Tuesdays, Fridays and alternate Wednesdays, one being scheduled for today on the Upper Field at 4.30 p.m. Anyone not mentioned on the above list is urged not to be discouraged, but to continue to turn out for practices. There will be ample opportunity for everyone interested, for McGill has a double entry in the representative league, while inter-faculty games are also being organised.

Paradoxically, you started out by hating Lettie, but she made you sorry for her at last, and Harry, for whom you felt only sympathy at first, was an object of contempt by the time the play had worked out to its final scene.

Marion Keith, as the servant Nona, must certainly be mentioned for her comfortable and humorous performance. Suzanne Avon, Harry's pretty ex-fiancee, was very good and very natural. But in spite of the excellent performances of the entire cast, our laurels on this occasion go to Charles Rittenhouse, as the beer-imbibing, cynical chemist, Ben. If this suggestion is not quite reasonable to the authorities in charge of sanitation, then I have another suggestion which would be equally reasonable. I suggest that students and people living in the area of this hitching post be issued with some form of respirator which would emit the more pleasing scent of Chanel No. 5, or Eau de Cologne.

If this falls, then I suggest, Mr. Editor, that the entire crew of horses, cabs and drivers be moved to a more remote spot.
